Officers For Square And Compass Club

The Square and Compass club, at a well-attended annual meeting last Thursday evening, re-elected all of its present officers for the coming year.

The U. S. Naval unit now studying communications at Shawsheen, under the command of Lieut. Com. Charles Teterson, was present for the supper and entertainment program. The main course was venison steaks cut from a deer shot by Selectman Edward F. Hall, a member of the club.

A musical program was presented before the unusually large gathering, followed by movies of Austria, Czechoslovakia, Germany and France, taken shortly before the war by Brainerd Smith of Lawrence.

The reports of the officers showed that the club has been a potent force in the community life during the past year, as well as active in its regular work. Following the reports, the nominating committee, consisting of Selectman Roy E. Hardy, Edmond Hammond and Joseph Higginson, presented its recommendations.

The new list of officers is: Rowland L. Luce, president; Charles A. Hill, first vice president; J. Augustus Remington, second vice president; Fred G. Cheney, secretary; Harry Sellars, treasurer; J. Lewis Smith, Edward A. Anderson, Harold

Inducted Group Leaves Today For Fort Devens

A large number of local men were accepted for Army service from the draft contingent reporting in Boston last Thursday morning for physical examination and induction. The men were granted a seven-day furlough to wind up their personal affairs, and entrained for Fort Devens this morning. Joseph E. O'Brien, a reserve policeman here for several years, was to have been in charge of the group, but because of his illness Frank G. McCaffrey of Lawrence was appointed deputy leader in charge.

The men accepted were: Ovilla J. Robichaud, Kittery, Maine; Alyre J. Godin, 36 Butler street, Lawrence; John S. Gill, 16 Cuba street; Frank G. McCaffrey, 142 East Haverhill street, Lawrence; Walter F. Muller, 3 Lupine road; Joseph E. O'Brien, 52 Summer street; Charles W. Saalfrank, 59 Lowell street; Frederick M. Winn, 7 Argyle street; James G. Fettes, 115 Ware street, Lawrence; August C. Reilly, 55 High street; Mack T. Iworsley, 21 Berkeley street, Lawrence.

Oursler Calls For Co-operative Peace

Noted Writer Pleads For Tolerance At Peace Table

In one of the most thought-provoking lectures heard here in some time, Fulton Oursler, well-known author and editor, told a large gathering of November club members Monday afternoon that the last war did not end in a permanent peace because the warring interests at home made it absurd to look for cooperation and harmony between nations that had just laid down their arms.

"Woodrow Wilson desired a peace of cooperation for the world", he said, "but he couldn't manage to secure cooperation in his own back yard. The League of Nations became accepted as a Democratic fantasy, while isolation was regarded as a keynote of Republican policy."

This time, he emphasized, we cannot believe that things will come out all right by themselves; we must remember our responsibilities as citizens to make the peace a living thing rather than a concept of wishful thinking.

Mentioning that there are certain realities upon which we can always depend, even though the world has apparently been turned inside out by the international events of the past few years, Mr. Oursler forecast a return to religion and morality from the pseu-

Local Banks Hold Annual Meetings

Both Andover banks held their annual meetings in their banking houses this week, the National bank Tuesday morning, the Savings Bank on Monday afternoon.

Only routine business was transacted at the National Bank, and all its present officers and directors were reelected. They are: Abbot Stevens, president; Chester W. Holland, vice-president, cashier and trust officer; Edward A. Anderson, assistant cashier; Miss Marion E. Farnsworth, assistant trust officer; Wallace E. Brimer, Burton S. Flagg, Louis S. Finger, Dr. Charles M. Fuess, Frederick H. Jones, Abbot Stevens and Nathaniel Stevens, directors.

Except for Edward C. Nichols of Wolcott avenue, elected a corporation, and F. Howard Porter, assistant treasurer since last April, the list of officers at the Savings Bank is the same as that adopted at the 1942 meeting. The complete roster is on another page of this issue.

Little Interest In Coming Elections

No Candidates Have Filed For Numerous Vacancies

Andover's political pot, usually boiling merrily by this time of the year, hasn't even started to simmer so far. At this time last year, there were 21 candidates for 17 different offices, with many more expected to file nomination papers. This year, not a single person has filed his papers or announced his candidacy.

Among the offices which are to be filled in March are those of Edward P. Hall, elected last year for the unexpired selectman's term of Howell F. Shepard; James P. Christie, collector of taxes; William F. Barron and John P. White, Board of Public Works; William A. Doherty, John M. Erving and Dr. Malcolm B. McTernan, school committee; Dr. Percy J. Look, board of health; Herbert Lewis, planning board and board of survey; and Philip Ripley, Memorial Hall library trustee.

Town Clerk George H. Winslow has announced February 4, at 4:30 p. m., as the closing date for filing nomination papers, for which 43 signatures are required. February 4 at 4:30 is also the closing date for filing special articles for the

Bail Set At $750 For Medford Driver

A few hours after a wild ride through Andover square, and a chase by the police cruiser nearly as far as North Reading, Anthony Szafarowicz, of Medford, pleaded guilty to charges of being drunk, operating under the influence of liquor, operating to endanger, failure to stop for a uniformed officer and violation of Executive Order 40, in Lawrence District court Monday morning. The case was continued to this coming Monday, and Szafarowicz was released on bail of $750. Executive Order 40 deals with the 35-mile limit imposed by the Governor last year.

The man, police stated, had driven through the Square, in the dimout, at the rate of about 60 miles an hour around 9:30 Sunday evening. He refused to stop for the

The question of religious education in the public schools, which caused a great deal of discussion last summer, when it was first brought before the school committee by the Andover Ministers' Association, will highlight the annual meetings of at least two local churches during the coming week.

The plan, as originally proposed by the Association and tabled by the school committee on a technicality, would call for the assignment of certain periods each week in which children of the different faiths could be taught religion under the supervision of their respective churches.

Rev. Herman C. Johnson, pastor of the Free church, has stated that a resolution advocating the adoption of the plan will probably be presented to the members at their supper meeting next Wednesday evening, and a similar motion will be presented to the members of the South church at their meeting on the same night.

The West church, which met earlier in the month, went on record as favoring the religious education plan, and are requesting the school committee "to permit the institution and operation of this plan for such pupils as desire to participate in it." A Baptist church meeting last July expressed its unanimous approval of the plan.

Rev. Herman C. Johnson, pastor of the Free church, is expected to ask for a leave of absence from that position for the duration of the war, at the Free church meeting Wednesday. Mr. Johnson, pastor here for the past six years and an officer in the Massachusetts Council of Congregational

To Collect Tin Cans Saturday Morning

The first tin can collection since November will be taken up Saturday morning. A house to house canvass will be made by 16 trucks, starting at 9:00 a. m. Householders are asked to put their boxes of flattened tin cans on the curbs in front of their houses as early as possible Saturday morning.

The cans should be washed, their ends cut and turned in, labels removed and the cans flattened.

Should there be a snowstorm this Saturday morning, the collection will be postponed to the following Saturday. Local people will know that the collection has been postponed if the fire whistle blows the no school signal, 3-3-3, at 8:00.

ATTEN-SHUN!

COMING UP—the next presentation by the Tributary Theatre, who also put on "Susan and God," tomorrow, will be the familiar "Arsenic and Old Lace." If tomorrow's attendance warrants it, the Servicemen's Fund will receive the net proceeds from the Boris Karloff vehicle—but the attendance will probably be nothing to worry about. Who is going to take the Karloff role is still a military secret.

AND THE POLICEMEN'S BALL—February 23, will also be for the Fund, according to the announcement of the committee. The well-known WEEI and CBS radio stars, Carl Moore and Ray Girardin, with their songster, Gloria Carol, will head the production, which includes several other fine acts.

Asoian Appointed Student Captain At Scott Field

Higus Asoian, popular former Punchard football star, has recently been appointed a student captain in the 561st Technical School Squadron at Scott Field, Ill., where he is enrolled in the AAF radio school.

Student officers are chosen from the ranks of the most exemplary enlisted men at the field, and assist squadron commanders in administration. Though he remains an enlisted man, Pvt. Asoian wears "rank designation" on the shoulders of his uniforms similar to the manner in which commissioned officers wear their insignia.

Gus, the son of Mrs. Almas Asoian of Osgood street, graduated from Punchard in 1933, after serving as its football captain for the preceding two seasons.

Tributary Theatre Group To Go All-Out In Presentation Of "Susan And God" For Servicemen's Fund Tomorrow

"Susan and God," by Rachel Crothers, one of the most considerable drawing-room comedies produced on Broadway over the past decade, will be presented tomorrow night for the benefit of the Andover Servicemen's Fund. Curtain's at 8:00 in the Memorial auditorium.

The Fund committee fully expects that the play will please a large audience, the reports of the group's most recent presentation of the play indicating that they are one of the best companies ever to pass before the footlights here.

All funds, bien entendu, will go to swell the fund for the Andover boys and girls in the service. The scenery, stage management and lights are being taken care of by the technical workers of the Adventurers, with Miss Virginia Wise in charge.

Payne Well Again After Injury At Guadalcanal

The scores of friends who gathered, from his quarter-page picture in a Life magazine study of a Navy hospital ship, that he was very seriously injured, will be glad to know that Joseph Payne, formerly of Maple avenue, has completely recovered and is back with his Marine corps unit on Guadalcanal.

The picture showed Payne, his Punchard high school class ring clearly visible on his finger, eating ice-cream aboard the hospital ship, and stated that he had been badly wounded around the eyes in Marine Pacific engagements. His mother has received word that he is rapidly regaining strength and that his sight has not been impaired.

Showing the same fight that he displayed on former Punchard football teams, Joe, when offered a furlough to return home to rest up, turned down the offer and asked to be sent back to the scene of battle to continue doing his part in cleaning up the Jape. Proving that Joe can carry the ball as well as the next fellow.

Joe moved to North Andover last year, where he resided at 400 Great Pond road. He joined up last January after graduating from Punchard the year before, and fought all through the summer and fall on Guadalcanal before receiving his wound.

He has fought actually side by side with several of the Andover boys in service, among them Red York, himself recently wounded in action, Walter Morrissey, Mugsie McGrath and Red Addison of West Andover.

Joe spent Christmas in a hospital ship bed, but received lots of presents and cards from his folks. And when he got back to his battalion, he found a lot more mail waiting for him.

The entire center portion of the Auditorium will be a reserved section, for which seats are priced at 83 cents; the rest of the house has a 55 cent tariff.

The ushers, under Mrs. Doris Anderson Clark, will be Ernestine Look, Nancy Thomas, Barbara Healey Holland, Joyce Curran, Kathleen Burns, Joan Dickinson, Mrs. Robert Hall and Ruth Hardy.

Andover people connected with the production include Stephen Whitney and Francis Rodericks of the cast; Clifford Emmons, stage manager; Frederick Hulme and William Edwards, stage lighting and music; Louise Hulme and Francis Rodericks, tickets; Virginia Wise, Everdike and Antoinette Thiras, properties; and Rowland Luce, furniture.

AT EASE!

Arthur Kibbee, son of Mrs. Mina Kibbee of Clark road, Ballardvale, was recently promoted to sergeant in the Army Air Force. Art, who enlisted April 7, is at Miami, Fla.

Pvt. Dave Petrie, former Townsman adman now with the AAF, is home on furlough from Duncan Field, Texas, his first time home since entering service nearly a year ago. Dave is at Duncan Field, following his graduation from the Curtis-Wright technical school in Glendale, Cal., and earlier from the Douglas Aircraft service school in Santa Monica, awaiting a new assignment.

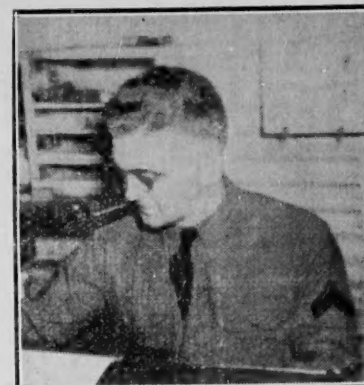

Bill Krieger, stationed at Fort Monmouth, N. J., has recently gone up another step on the ladder, and is a two-striper.

First Lieut. Bill Cargill, one of the earliest as well as one of the best known Andover boys to enter service, had a short leave at home this past weekend. He's the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cargill of Stevens street, and is stationed at Camp Stewart, Ga.,

SUBSTANTIAL GIFT

The Servicemen's Fund Committee has just received the largest donation to date for its fund, a generous gift of the entire net proceeds of the recent ball by the Firemen's Relief association. The chairman of the ball committee, Alexander MacKenzie, turned over approximately $600 to the treasurer at a recent meeting of the committee.

"We were overwhelmed, to say the least," the committee stated this week, "and we want to take this opportunity to announce publicly our heartfelt thanks to all who helped make this gift to us possible."

Looking very much as he did behind that big desk in the Smart and Flagg office, except for those two stripes on the sleeves, is Cpl. Irving Whitcomb. He has been stationed in Northern Ireland these past few months, and has been kept pretty busy there. Will we tell you just what he's doing? We will not!

Lieut. Jack Haggerty is now director of a class at the officer candidate school at the Medical Replacement Training Center at Camp Berkeley, Texas. He returned there yesterday after a short furlough at his home on Clark road, Ballardvale.

Also home on a short leave is Herb Muller, seaman second class in the Coast Guard, son of the George Mullers of High Plain road. Herb will report back to Davis Island, Tampa, Fla., on the 21st.

Among the many letters recently received by the Fund committee were ones from Ben Batcheller, Major Joe Basso, Pvt. George Dutton, Lieut. Allan Edmonds of the Navy, Pvt. Woody Crowley, Gunner's Mate Frank Fettes, Dow Hamblin, Ensign Jim Scoble and R. S. Walker.

Charlie Lundergan is at Dutch Harbor, Alaska, with a Naval construction regiment. He's the only Andover boy so far reported to be stationed in Alaska.

Peter Jervais of Woburn street left Tuesday for duty in the Navy. From Ballardvale comes word that Arthur Ness of the Navy is spending his furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Ness.

Pfc. Charles Winant of Mexico, Me., visited with his sister, Mrs. Harry Wrigley, Jr., of Ballardvale, during the week.

Sgt. Fred Kydd of the army spent several days at home recently.

Also at home was Seaman Charles Johnson of the Vale.

Ed Valentine, machinist's mate third-class, has graduated from his course at the Naval Air Station at Memphis, Tenn., and has been assigned to a squadron at Norfolk, Va.

Andover has not been well represented in the groups which have previously been trained, though Andover women will be asked to serve only in Andover when their services are needed. Anyone who can possibly take the course is asked to get in touch with Mrs. Henry Dearborn of William street, Shawsheen.

NUTRITION COURSE — The second in a series of three talks by Miss Catherine Lawlor will be given in the American Legion rooms at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon. Her subject will be "Packed Lunches," which should be of great interest to the wives of war workers.

The third lecture will be held on January 29, and promises to be the most interesting of all, since the title is "Meat Extenders and Substitutes." Several demonstrations will also be given.

The first lecture last week was quite well attended.

SURGICAL DRESSINGS—A new center in West Andover, the sixth established so far, has been named for work on the large surgical dressing quotas for the Red Cross. The Grange hall there will be open on Monday evening and Tuesday afternoon, every other week. Those interested may get in touch with Mrs. Arthur Lewis of Lowell street.

No center has been established as yet for Ballardvale, but work is done occasionally in private homes.

Word from headquarters has been received to the effect that no further quotas will be assigned the Andover chapter until the present enormous backlogs are completed.

New Restrictions On Mail Going Overseas

Because of the heavy demands made on cargo space for military shipments overseas, the local post-office has just been notified that, after January 15, the volume of mail despatched to other countries must be kept to a minimum. Only limited facilities, also, are available to commanders of theatres of operations for delivery of mail.

The following provisions have been adopted by the Postoffice Department, on recommendation of the War Department:

First, no parcel over five pounds in weight, or 15 inches in length, or 36 inches in length and girth combined, will be accepted as overseas mail for individuals. There will be no exceptions.

Second, no parcels will be accepted for dispatch to A. P. O.'s outside continental United States unless "They contain such articles as are being sent at the specific request of the addressee, approved by the battalion or similar unit commander of the addressee."

The third ruling may affect the Townsman's standing policy of sending the paper free to any local serviceman, anywhere in the world, through the cooperation of Merrimack Mutual. The order reads, "Individual copies of newspapers or magazines shall be accepted for dispatch to A. P. O.'s outside the continental United States only where subscriptions are specifically requested in writing by the addressee, or for which subscriptions are now in effect. Such copies to individuals shall be accepted only from publishers who shall place on the wrapper, or on the publication when a wrapper is not used, a certificate reading as follows: "Mailed in conformity with P. O. D. Order 19687."

Fourth, no circular matter, third class, will be dispatched from ports of embarkation for A. P. O.'s overseas.

Fifth, V mail will continue to be sent overseas, and will be sent by airplane when feasible. All letters of any kind sent air mail, of course, will go by air as far as the embarkation port, but no mail except V mail can be assured of forwarding by plane from the ports of embarkation to localities overseas.

Albert McDonald, U.S.N., a veteran of the last war, long considered missing by Navy Department officials, was this week declared killed in action by them. He had been living in New York, but the family has recently resided on Walker avenue, Shawsheen.

McDonald, 43 years old, served with the Merchant Marine and Navy during the present war. In the last war, he left Lawrence high school in his Junior year to join the Navy, and he was prominent in Lawrence athletics during the '20s. At one time, he was a substitute mail carrier in that city.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ann McDonald; three daughters, Ann, Kathleen and Eunice of this town; his father, John McDonald, of Lawrence; and two sisters, Marie and Mrs. Albert Fraser, of Lawrence.

Oursler

do-scientific materialism of the past few decades.

"Hitler represents materialism and all it stands for," he told his audience. "He believes that man can do anything without moral responsibility for his actions. This is nothing but the law of the jungle, and we see today what athelism and materialism have brought us."

Mr. Oursler began his address by discussing fear, which he defined as "imagination gone wrong, the negative side of the positive pole called faith or desire. Fear is nothing but believing that something evil is about to happen."

Fear, he emphasized, is always a dread of the consequences of an act; psychologists say that most neuroses result from the "double-wishing" caused by fear—a desperate indecision between two incompatible alternatives, to give up a business or to risk a large amount of capital in it, for instance.

"To overcome fear," he continued, "we must decide where our loyalties lie; we must decide once and for all, and act ruthlessly, regardless of the consequences."

Necessary, then, are certain things we can always depend on, regardless of political or economic circumstances.

In the past two decades, there have been tremendous changes, from the top of prosperity to the pit of depression to the turmoil of all-out war.

"Our children naturally wondered what sort of a world we were making for them, back in the depression years," he said, "when we plowed under wheat in a land of eternal abundance, when people starved to death because food was too plentiful. We faced that as we now face war, because we know that, over all, we are planning a better world."

With the troubles of the past depression and the present conflict, we may often long for something new; a strong-willed person to assume the burdens of our lives. That, however, is contradictory. "We think the people are the masters of the state; we can't believe in any great leader pulling a rabbit out of a hat to solve our sins of omission."

"We must believe in permanent realities, like birth, hunger, love; they do not change, no matter who manages the government."

As another permanent reality whose influence we cannot doubt, "I believe in a universe regulated with order by a God," he stated. "I believe that we are getting back to guidance from above in human affairs."

After our years of materialism, during which we settled everything by a materialistic and scientific form, we are coming back to an affirmation of the old beliefs through the laboratories themselves. "Prominent physicists find that behind their atoms and electrons is an uncaused cause, a giver of laws."

"Even before we were frightened back to our old beliefs by the presence of war, the tendency was noted. In 1940, the circulation of fiction declined by 50 percent while Bible sales increased by 250,000 copies." The fiction of the past generation he characterized as "either utterly frivolous or bitterly poisoned by the scepticism of those who had no hope."

A second reality, he said, was the character of the American people. "I believe that this composite race is living here for a special purpose: I note our distinctive American sense of humor, and I am often inclined to think that, if an American had constructed the Statue of Liberty, he would have contrived to place the crown slightly over one eye."

American humor, he said, is "vulgar, cheap, but also unique, and it may save the soul of mankind before we are through. We will celebrate the death of tyranny with a Bronx cheer."

"America," he continued, "is the spirit of freedom at work in organized self-government. It is an experimental program of democracy which we have made our way of life, and by which we change our leaders to get better ones."

"The system is imperfect, and we have often been cheated, robbed and abused; nonetheless, we are one of the great nations of all time, a very searchlight among nations."

Mr. Oursler pointed out that, even in the midst of a global war, we still enjoy all the freedom promised by the Bill of Rights, secure homes, free speech, trial by jury, "in short, the right to act as our conscience directs."

"We are the product of the greatest migration in history, and a highly selective one. Over 300 years, only the most self-sufficient and non-conformist groups have had the courage and initiative to settle here. We started by losing 50 percent of the colonists on Plymouth Bay, but we pushed on, entirely alone, through the forests, rivers, mountains and deserts of a whole continent. None of our pioneers had a social security card; they did not want security. They were confident in themselves, and they believed the old axiom that God helps those who help themselves. We have always pulled through, but never been pulled through."

"That is the American way of life," he concluded, "a way of life permeated with the salvation of humor. We are awed by no great leaders; we are afraid of nothing but God. We know how sweet our life is; God helping us, we will never yield it up."

churches, has applied for service in the chaplain corps of the U. S. Army. His leave of absence will begin March 1.

The meeting will open with a catered supper at 6:00, tickets for which are being sold by the members of the Helping Hand society. James Gillespie, church moderator, will preside over the business meeting, at which the reports of all organizations and officers will be read, and the election of 1943 officers held.

A special vote will also be taken on an amendment to the church by-laws, which proposes that the board of trustees be enlarged from five to seven members.

A number of problems, including the difficulties in securing fuel and the possibility of converting the church heating system to coal, will probably come before the South church meeting, to be held after a catered supper at 6:30 next Wednesday evening. Reports by the various church committees and societies will be given, and other matters may arise for consideration.

The meeting of Christ church will be held Monday evening in the parish house. Supper will be served at 6:30, with the meeting scheduled for 8:00. Brief reports of each organization will be read, and the annual election of a moderator, wardens, vestry and diocesan delegates will be held. Rev. John S. Moses, rector, will read his first annual report since assuming the pastorate early last summer.

Because of the annual meeting, the Women's Auxiliary of the church will not meet Tuesday, as originally planned.

Nathan C. Hamblin of Chestnut street, principal emeritus of Pynchard high school, is at the Lawrence General hospital for rest and observation.

Are Your Home — and Your Family's Future — only HALF protected?

You wouldn't think of investing long-earned savings in a home, without the protection of fire insurance. In an hour, fire can rob you of all you've worked and hoped for — leave you nothing but ashes and crushing debt. Banks know the ever-present danger of fire — that's why they insist on fire insurance as security for their property loans. That's why you insist upon it — to protect yourself, your family's future.

But why go only half way? How can you disregard the new and dangerous threat of war to your town or city, to your home? Why, indeed, when you can secure complete protection — fire insurance and War Damage insurance — for just a few dollars more than fire insurance alone?

Your fire insurance on your home protects you still — as in peacetime. But regular fire insurance does not protect against damage or loss caused by war. If bombs should destroy your home — if fire should spread from a neighbor's house that was hit — if bomb-shattered water mains or aircraft action should damage your house, regular fire insurance does not help.

All banks now require War Damage insurance to cover their mortgage loans. However you may feel about the dangers of war to your property, you can't afford to follow a policy of indifference and neglect toward those dangers. You can't afford not to have War Damage insurance, because it actually costs "next to nothing."

For only 10 cents for every $100 worth of War Damage insurance, you can protect your home, its contents, your car, against loss due to enemy attack, or action by our own forces in resisting attack. Protection for commercial and other property is correspondingly low.

Don't wait for an Air Raid Alert to realize the deadly risk of war to everything you own. The future is unpredictable — and it's only common sense to protect yourself from war-risks, when a five or ten dollar bill will cover the average home.

War Damage insurance is issued by the War Damage Corporation, established by the United States Government. It is available to you through any authorized fire insurance agent or broker — throughout the country.

Time To Run

March is coming, and the first Monday of that month is always an important day for Andover. Unfortunately, in other towns the war has apparently dampened the ardor for running for public office, but that shouldn't be the case. In these war days we need the very best public administration that we can get. In these days when taxes are mounting higher and higher, we need men who will not only spend the town's money wisely, but who will see to it that their recommendations to the town for budget totals represent the very lowest minimum that is consistent with good government and wartime demands.

They say our town meeting is the most democratic institution that there is, for there we have a chance to have our say as to what shall be spent and what it shall be spent for. Idealistically, this may be so—but practically, it doesn't work out that way. The individual voter is in no position to know the details of public expenditure; he has to rely on the recommendations of someone. Here in Andover we have a good finance committee and a good Taxpayers' association, both of which groups investigate the budget recommendations and in turn pass on their information to the town meeting. This is a big help toward clarifying the voters' minds.

But those two groups have to ultimately rely on the words of the officers themselves. Both groups give their time, a great deal of it, but they certainly can't be expected to exercise the every-day scrutiny over town expenditures that the town officials should exercise.

That is why our election is very, very important. That is why men who can handle a town office efficiently and wisely owe it to the town to run for office. Sometimes we haven't had much of an opportunity to pick a good official, because the field hasn't offered any good candidates. Whose fault is that? Yours, and yours alone.

It's your fault in a couple of ways. First, you can't be bothered. It would take too much time to run. And so, those who can be bothered, do run, and many times they are not the ones who should run.

Secondly, the average voter is at fault, because he's too unreasonably critical of those holding public office. We've had a little sample of that recently in public life. When a man is elected to public office, he's going to use his own brain, and he's going to come to a conclusion. We don't want the type of a man who's on the fence all the time, wondering which way the wind is blowing. But it's the man who ponders a problem thoroughly and comes to a definite decision that seems to take the public censure.

Yes, people are like that. But run, just the same. And by all means do what you think best, and you'll have the infinite pleasure that comes from knowing you've done your duty.

To the Editor:

Though the collection of scrap in Andover was halted for a time because of weather conditions, the work should not be considered as finished by any means. We still want all Andover people to set aside their scrap, since we will collect it sometime in the near future when the weather is suitable.

Any form of metal, especially iron, is urgently needed. We request that the ladies set aside their worn-out silk stockings, since silk is very valuable in parachute manufacture. Clean rags of any sort may be banded now in preparation for the collection.

Those desiring to get rid of their salvage materials immediately may do so by notifying the Civilian Defense office or by telephoning 1840.

We want all Andover people to know that, since soldiers do not stop fighting because of winter weather, we have no intention of letting the salvage drive lapse because the weather is severe.

This Sober Town

Foresight—that's what we need in these times, and therefore we are suggesting that the following information be clipped out and put away in a safe place, preferably attached to the steering wheel of your automobile.

"First—place a key in the little opening on the steering post or on the dashboard, and turn either to the right or to the left. This was known as the 'ignition.' Next, find what the people in 1941 used to call the 'starter.' This may be either a little push button on the dashboard, or it may be a foot pedal on the floor of the car, well to the front. In some cars this 'starter' and the 'accelerator' are operated by the same pedal. Having operated this 'starter' the machine should start, if you left enough gasoline in it when you put it away back in early 1942. The next step is to press the foot down on a pedal to the left of the steering-post, called the 'clutch pedal.' Having done this, 'shift the car into gear.' This strange phraseology means to operate the hand lever, which either arises from the floor or is attached to the steering post just below the steering wheel. There are four positions, first, second, third or high, and reverse. It will take some time to recollect which is which, but be patient. Having gotten the car into first, allow the clutch pedal to rise gradually, at the same time applying pressure to the 'accelerator', another pedal flanking the steering post on the right. This should set the car in motion, providing you have not forgotten to release the brake."

Hope this helps you remember how to drive it when next you get a chance.

Following his impressive address at the November club Monday afternoon, Fulton Oursler—who, we can't help thinking, looks remarkably like Adolphe Menjou—mentioned a curious incident on his tour.

He had given a talk in Salem the day before, and, as he walked out on the stage to begin his address, he was followed by a large black cat, possessing more than the usual amount of feline vanity.

The coincidence was that Mr. Oursler had had his first article accepted by a periodical in that same city of Salem, more than thirty years ago. And the name of the magazine was "The Black Cat."

We were glad to see Rowland Luce reelected president of the Square and Compass club for his fifth term. Comparisons are invidious, but the only person we know who has held office longer than Rowland is Adolf Hitler.

And those who have looked forward to receiving those clever postcard notices composed by Fred Cheney will certainly be glad to hear that he is to be secretary for another year.

We still think that some people's ambition is to be the air raid warden on Easy Street.

No more butter—so what! Never liked the dratted stuff anyway. In the summer it used to melt into an unpleasant mess on the plate. In the refrigerator it got so hard that it tore the slices of bread apart. It had an unpleasant tendency to sop into toast, and to elude us in the depressions of grid-dle cakes. And in those paper dishes used in restaurants, we had to chase it half-way around the table.

Tires we could use. Automobiles would come in handy, and the second cup of coffee is always better than the first. But butter—we're just as happy without it.

New Year's Tea By Helping Hand

A well-attended New Year's tea was held last Thursday afternoon at the Free church by the Helping Hand society. Plans for the annual church supper next Wednesday evening were made during the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Carrie Buchan, president.

The Women's Alliance of the church were guests at the meeting. An entertainment program, with Mrs. Edmond Dunwoody as chairman, consisted of violin solos by Alexander Meek, Jr., several vocal solos by Kenneth Tomlinson, and duets by Clifford and Christine Johnson. Community singing was also enjoyed.

The New Year's tea was served by a committee including Mrs. Lily Harris, Mrs. George Murray, Mrs. David MacDonald, Mrs. Alex MacKenzie, Mrs. George Nicoll and Mrs. William Stevens.

Sgt. Calvin C. Deyermond, son of Police Officer and Mrs. John Deyermond of Shawsheen road, is enjoying a ten-day furlough from his Army Air Force duties at Bangor, Me.

Mrs. G. L. Cole of Lawrence has taken a suite in the Aberdeen Apartments in Shawsheen.

DEATHS

One of West Andover's best-known residents over a period of 50 years, Mrs. Mary (Nord) Palm, widow of August Palm, passed away Sunday evening at her home on Blanchard street. She was born in Sweden 79 years ago.

Late Mrs. August Palm

Mrs. Palm had been almost totally blind for the past several years, but only recently had been confined to her bed. She joined the West church in 1891, but of late years had not been able to attend services.

Her husband passed away on March 6 of last year.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Victoria Hary of Boston; and two sons, Henry of Andover, with whom she resided, and Victor of California.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 2:00, with services conducted at the late home by Rev. Donald H. Savage and Rev. Newman Matthews. Burial was in West Parish cemetery.

Former Academy Teacher Succumbs To Long Illness

George Walker Hinman, "Georgie" to the generation of boys who knew him and respected him as one of Phillips academy's outstanding teachers, passed away Monday at his home on Salem street. Failing health had some time ago caused his withdrawal from active academic life.

"Georgie" was one of the gradually dwindling rank of teachers who insisted that boys have their lessons done and done well; he showed no patience with the shirker, while he went out of his way to help the worker. When boys finished his course, they knew Latin—if they didn't, it was only because they didn't have the mental capacities to acquire a knowledge of Latin. He was one of the most popular of teachers outside the classroom, being a favorite of the boys whose adviser he was at PBX. In his study, boys who had problems or needed help found in him a sympathetic listener and a willing counsellor.

During his illness he maintained a keen interest in the affairs of Phillips academy and its athletic teams, whose activities he had always followed carefully. His three sons, Roger, Ted and Robert, are in the service, a fact of which he was justly very proud. A few days before his death, Sergeant Ted came home for the first time since his induction.

Born 67 years ago in Andover, Mr. Hinman attended Phillips academy, graduating valedictorian in 1894. He received the degree of A.B. from Harvard in 1900. After working at Worcester academy, he came to Phillips in 1901, where he was first teaching History and Latin. For many years he was director of Long Lake Maine, one of the outstanding summer camps.

Surviving, in addition to three boys, are his wife, Mrs. Roy Marquis; two step-daughters, Mrs. Flynn and Mrs. Sturtevant; and a sister, Mrs. Man.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at Cochran Phillips academy, with Dr. Rev. Mr. Baldwin officiating. Burial was in the Chapel cemetery.

Mrs. Gertrud (Morrison) Gertrud, wife of Salmond G. Gertrud, died Sunday at her home in Andover. She was born in Tilsonburg, Ontario, and for many years in Andover was a faithful member of the Congregational church.

Surviving besides her husband are a son, Harold B. Gertrud; two brothers, S. Gertrud and M. Gertrud; and a sister, Mrs. Gertrud Lenox, of Canada.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Lundgren funeral home. Burial was in Wildwood cemetery.

Hansen Now Training At Maxwell Field

Stephen E. Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Hansen of 123½ Main street, is now enrolled as an aviation cadet in the Army Air Forces pre-flight school for pilots, at Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala.

He will receive nine weeks of intensive training there before beginning actual flight instruction.

Cadet Hansen, a former salesman and a Pynchard high school graduate, was accepted as an aviation cadet last October 28 at Fort Devens.

YOU HAVE READ IN YOUR HISTORY BOOKS about the smoke signals of the Indians, the beating of the drums of native tribes, the telegraph system of Reuter, the grapevine of the underworld, the wires of the Associated Press — well, apparently all such means of spreading news came into use last week when suddenly it became known that a shipment of Beef had arrived at our store. On Wednesday, January 6, we received the largest shipment of fresh meat we have ever received since we have been in business. Someone saw it being delivered and then the smoke signals rose, the drums began to beat, the cables came to life because from 7:30 Thursday morning until we closed Thursday night there was a steady stream of customers asking for Beef.

At one time during the day the selling was nearly out of control. We promise that a condition like this will never happen in this store again. If we are successful in securing another large delivery of meat from the same source—and it is approximately 1700 miles from Andover—the meat orders which have been given by our regular customers will be filled first. When they have been taken care of, the balance will go on public sale (if there is any left).

The One-Day-a-Week Delivery

We have found that Thursday is the most convenient day to make our one-day-a-week-to-a-customer delivery. Orders for delivery on that day must be given before Thursday. Due to the shortage of manpower we cannot accept orders on Thursday for delivery that day.

What we have plenty of this week

Chickens, Broilers, Fowl, Capons, Turkeys,
Bacon and Hams, Calf Liver and Beef Liver.

What we are short of Beef — Pork — Lamb — Veal.

Grocery Department

We are always seeking for new food items. We will have them just as soon as they come on the market. We still have a very good stock of regular canned food and fruits, but we are asking everybody to limit their purchases to two cans each time they order.

Controversial Painting Now Shown At Addison

Never before shown in this vicinity, the much discussed oil painting "Hide-and-Seek" by the contemporary artist Pavel Tchelitchev, which was recently shown for the first time in New York, will be on exhibition at the Addison Gallery for one week only starting on January 11.

The Addison Gallery is fortunate in being able to obtain this important picture for exhibition. The painting, which measures about six by seven feet in size, is one of the most notable technical achievements of present day art. With originality, the artist represents his vividly colored interpretation of an old oak tree around which numerous children play hide-and-seek. Carrying out the title further, the picture contains multiple figures and shapes which appear and disappear the more the painting is observed; one minute you see them, the next you don't.

Tchelitchev is one of the leading surrealist artists of the present day and "Hide-and-Seek", painted in this country during the last two years, shows how moving and universal extreme introspection can be.

In keeping with the Gallery's broad policy of presenting widely different approaches to art, "Hide-and-Seek" has been brought to Andover in order to interpret this phase of contemporary art for the adult public as well as for students. On Sunday, January 17 at 3:00, Patrick Morgan, instructor of art in Phillips Academy, will discuss the painting at the Gallery.

Mrs. Robert Mills is recuperating at the Lawrence General hospital from an appendectomy.

Gas — A VITAL NEED TO AMERICAN DEFENSE

CONSERVATION

Many home essentials are defense essentials, too. Gas for cooking, refrigeration, water heating and house heating is no exception. It serves in defense workers' homes, in our Army, Navy and Air Force cantonments, and in vital war industries and housing projects. Vital to our war effort, we can further its usefulness by preventing waste. Keep gas burners clean, properly adjusted and turned on only when needed. Efficient household use of gas will conserve more for victory and we can invest our savings in Bonds and Stamps to keep America free.

In those schools, new classes have been formed in aeronautics, typing and the like. The time allotted to physical education has been more than doubled.

Mr. Erickson spoke briefly on the transportation problem presented by the government regulations, as well as the fuel situation as regards Bradlee school. He expressed his hope that a speedy solution for the problem would be found.

The February meeting will be held Thursday evening, the 11th. Mrs. Jasper Gibson of Haverhill, representative of the sixth P. T. A. district, will be the speaker, and a special Founder's Day program will be held.

NEWS OF YOUNG ANDOVER

News of young Andover sounds a good deal like News of Old Andover this week. At least, School street residents may have thought so yesterday, when they looked out of their windows to behold a team of horses towing a Phillips Academy hockey squad of about 20 youngsters down to the railroad station to embark for a game with the M. I. T. Fresh.

It wasn't the first time in history that a hockey team has been transported by horses, but it's certainly the first time in the present generation. And horses aren't being bothered, these days, by ODT detectives.

The Townsman planned yesterday to have a picture taken of the equipage. Ye editor evidently misunderstood the speed of the horses, however, since the photographer sent to intercept the wagon found that the trip had already been completed.

near future have been discussed. The committee in charge consists of Miss Doris Shaw, chairman; Mrs. Mary Peatman, Mrs. Helen Webb, Miss Marion Matthews, Mrs. Elizabeth Hall and Mrs. Ruth Anderson.

The ladies of the church are invited to attend the next Guild meeting, at which Miss Myra Church of the Lawrence City Mission will talk of her experiences as a social worker there.

The meeting will be held at 8:00 January 22 in the vestry. A silver offering will be taken, and refreshments served by the following committee: Miss Doris Shaw, Mrs. Ruth Sharpe and Mrs. Elizabeth Hall.

Church School Elects

The following officers were elected at a recent meeting of the teachers of the Union Congregational church school: Mrs. Leslie Hadley, superintendent of the primary department; Miss Doris Shaw, treasurer; Mrs. Ruth Covell, secretary; Miss Marjorie Mears, assistant treasurer.

Farewell Party Held

A party was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Hazeltine in honor of Lillian Goodall, who leaves Saturday to reside in Connecticut. Miss Goodall was presented with a purse of money.

Those attending included Ann Morton, Dolly Lawrence, Dickie and Clifford Lawrence, Alfred Duke, Raymond Nolan, George Nason, Ralph Sharpe, Robert Mills, Jr., Dennis Mills, Vivian Bell, Jeanne Myers, Joanne Myers, Joan Hazleton, Blayne and Curtis Hazleton, Joan Durling, Joan Buckley, Francis Buckley, Lillian Goodall, Diane Mitchell, Geneva and Lucille O'Hara, Lucille Sherry, Gardner Townsend, John Ness, Marylin Ness and Donald Ness.

Personals

Paul Abbot of Charlotte, N. C., is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Stark of Center street.

Miss Eleanor Cohn, daughter of the Howard Coons, has accepted a position in a defense plant in Westbury, R. I.

Mrs. Charles Johnson has been ill at her home on Clark road.

Gordon Dewart of 48 Salem street, a student at the Fessenden school, West Newton, spent the holidays at his home. He is the son of Mrs. Emery G. Trott.
